The holidays have come and gone. Before we get fully underway in the New Year, we take one more glimpse from this past holiday season to introduce Daisy (2008), a child in foster care, to all her potential forever family out there who will help her unwrap endless possibilities that a safe, nurturing and permanent family can provide.

Daisy has dreams of stardom and princesses and doll houses. We close the holidays with one more visit with Santa and the Princess Diana exhibit aboard the Queen Mary in Long Beach, California.

Daisy is a friendly, outgoing and personable child. She's very articulate and engages easily with adults and peers. At such a young age, Daisy is already learning how to be an empowered young lady. She's expressive not only verbally with others; but also through various art mediums and writings in a personal journal. Daisy says she would like to find an adoptive family that resembles her current foster family – active participation with her life and simply showing her love and patience.

Daisy was hesitant in sharing what gifts she wanted this holiday season. With some help from foster mom, the Wednesday's Child Team was able to uncover Daisy's holiday gift wish with some dolls. The Queen Mary Team also came through with an authentic Princess Diana limited edition doll. Daisy said happily that this was the best holiday ever.

We're confident that one of you out there will top our efforts and help Daisy achieve all her dreams. Tune in to Wednesday's Child and then call to learn more about adoption at 1-866-921-ADOPT (2367).
